The Living Cell

A working model of a living cell, the unit of structure in all plant and animal life, has been produced, according to the Scientific American, which made its announcement through the Associated Press. Dr. D. T. MacDougal, director of the Carnegie Institution's laboratories for plant physiology at Tucson, Arizona and Carmel, California, is credited with the artificial production.

The man-made cell grows and absorbs sodium and potassium selectively in a manner similar to the absorption by plants, not accounted for by any accepted theories of chemical activity, according to Dr. MacDougal. The cell is the product of Dr. MacDougal's study of the "phenomenon of life" by experiments with chemical substances of the same nature as those occurring in "living matter" which were exposed to normal living conditions.

"It would be an exaggeration to say that Dr. MacDougal has created a living cell," said Orsen D. Munn, editor and publisher of the Scientific American.

"He has, however, succeeded in producing a good substitute for experimental and study purposes. His cell does possess some of the properties of the living plant cell. It may be that we never will be able to produce life artificially by mixing chemicals together, but Dr. MacDougal has made a long step toward that very thing. His achievement brings us nearer to an answer to the question 'What is Life?'"

"The chief difference between the artificial cell and the living cell as described in the article is that in the former the intervention of man is necessary to 'throw the switch'—that is, to upset the balance and start things going again—while the living cell is apparently provided with some unknown mechanism for doing this at the psychological moment."

Dr. Beverly L. Clarke, assistant to Dr. MacDougal, explained that unlike the real living cell, the artificial cell needs "winding up," by the substitution of new solutions for the spent ones. It will take up its food material and water for a short time, with accompanying increase in size, but this process ceases until new substances are provided. The period of absorption and growth is a short one, the artificial cell needing repeated "winding up."

MUSICAL SOCIETY PRESENTS FINE PROGRAM

By Thomas Vincent Cator

The concert activities of the Pacific Grove Musical Society show the local season at its height. The orchestra and chorus, under the direction of L. E. M. Cosmey, have made splendid progress and the concert given at the Grove Theatre on the evening of February 23 was ample evidence that we have here an organization which must be taken seriously.

After listening to the last concert, we are convinced that this body of musicians is rapidly developing toward a proportion of excellence which leaves no doubt as to possibilities, and with proper support and encouragement may unquestionably arrive at a status which will permit the rendition of symphonic music of the highest order.

What Will It Be?

There will probably be quite a number of bids put in for purchase and removal of the old Sunset school building and two temporary structures. Suggestion has been made that the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea purchase the main building for use as a city hall. Not a bad idea—but where to put it is the question.

Then there is a man who would move the building to a central location and establish a permanent art gallery—a crying need.

Another enterprising individual would place the building on the beach and make of it a dance hall. Horrors!

The foregoing are the uses we have heard about. There are probably many others.

MONTEREY COUNTY REALTY TO BE REAPPRAISED

Beginning on March 1 a reappraisal of realty values in all Monterey County cities will begin, according to an announcement from W. R. Tavernetti, County Assessor. This will be the first revaluation since 1922.

Heretofore the average assessment has been about 43 per cent of the value, and even on this basis, considering increased values, the taxes will be considerably larger.

S. G. Nix, former deputy assessor, will make the assessments here.

CARMEL MAN HEADS ROTARIANS

Ray C. DeYoe, of the Carmel Realty Co., was unanimously elected president of the Monterey Peninsula Rotary Club last Thursday. The election followed a luncheon at the Flor de Monterey.

Directors of the organization for the current year are R. M. Dorton and Carmel Martin of Monterey, and Ed. Simpson and Sheldon Gilmer of Pacific Grove.

A feature of the meeting was an address on city planning by Charles Cheney.

STRAUSS PLEASES, AS USUAL

Lawrence Strauss is an artist who is always welcome here.

He gave one of his delightful evenings at the Golden Bough last Sunday evening before a comfortable audience. Strauss is an artist, all to few nowadays when so many are bidding for public attention, who never fails to justify advance notices.

In everything that makes for a popular singer this well-known tenor is well equipped—a pleasing personality, a voice under perfect control and splendid enunciation.

HUMANÉ SOCIETY TO CARE FOR "STRAYS"

The work heretofore carried on by Miss Louise Conger, at her own expense, in behalf of a shelter for stray animals in this city, will henceforth be carried on by the Carmel Humane Society. This was decided upon at a meeting of the organization on Wednesday afternoon. A small shelter will be established.

Collegians Tonight

Tonight at the Theatre of the Golden Bough the ex-University of California Glee Club, now known as "Brick" Morse's Collegians, will present one of its internationally famous programs. This organization, for more than thirty years under the leadership of Clinton R. ("Brick") Morse, made a tour of Europe, the Orient and the eastern seaboard of the United States last season, and is believed to be the strongest aggregation of college entertainers now before the public.

Popular and classic songs, solo and ensemble, alternate with jazz band numbers and snappy vaudeville acts.

One of the best known of the soloists appearing is Harold Rosenblum, singer of popular songs, who also directs the jazz band from the keyboard and makes his own unique orchestrations of the latest hits.

Another favorite is Richard Erickson, who specializes in burlesque, and has a whole repertoire of star acts. He is most noted, perhaps, for his classic dances, when, clad in black tights, a white coat and long brown curls crowned with a garland of flowers, he portrays such famous characters of the "interpretive" Dance as Narcissa, Ophelia and Pan. His "Tragedy in Five Acts" is a monologue which never fails to leave the sides aching and eyes wet. The rendition of this number is rendered the more touching by the child-like lisp of the performer. Erickson also does a chalk-talk with a very fast "line," and is said to be a whole show in himself.

The Golden Bough auditorium will be opened at eight o'clock, the performance commencing at eight-thirty.

CITY FINANCES

Explanations of some of the items in the City Clerk's financial report, published in last week's Pine Cone, seem to be in order. The "Cash on Hand" amount seems large. It is, owing to the fact that the 1925 taxes were only recently collected. This money must carry the city through 1926. The apparently large amount expended for the Fire Department—$5438—takes in $2460 for payment for water for hydrants, which must be paid for at the rate of three dollars a month each, whether used or not.

HE LIKES THE T. G. B.

Baron Frederic Mandelstamm, a noted French novelist and dramatist with Josef von Sternberg, the Austrian director in charge of the Chaplin picture now being filmed on the peninsula, was an interesting figure in Lawrence Strauss' audience at the Theatre of the Golden Bough last Sunday evening. He declared that the Golden Bough is the most attractive theatre he has seen in America, being in its restrained simplicity of design and completeness of technical equipment such a playhouse as Jacques Copeau and his associates in Paris would delight in.

Following out its policy of presenting each month two outstanding old stories, "Everybody's Magazine" this month publishes James Hopper's story of the early American occupation of the Philippines, "Caybigan."

Eagles Fly Low

Last Sunday the four teams of the Abalone Baseball League performed before a banner crowd. They not only did their "stuff" for the home folks, but for hundreds of Washington's birthday visitors.

Colonel Dutton's screaming Eagles have yet to win their first game. Fred Bechdolt's collection of hoot Owls took them into camp by a 16 to 4 score.

In a Garrison finish Halsted Yates' Larks walloped Hooper's Hawks, score 9 to 8.

Three teams are now tied for first place, with the Eagles in the cellar. Tomorrow's games will probably change the standing, which now is as follows:

	Games	W	L	Pct.
Owls	3	2	1	.666
Larks	3	2	1	.666
Hawks	3	2	1	.666
Eagles	3	0	3	.000

MAGAZINE EDITOR HERE

Karl Harriman of New York, editor of the Red Book and the Blue Book, was in Carmel this week with Mrs. Harriman and Ruth Comfort Mitchell (Mrs. Stanford Young) of Saratoga, California.

For several years Harriman was associated with Edward K. Bok and Cyrus W. Curtis of the Curtis Publishing Company of Philadelphia. He succeeded Ray Long in his present editorship. Long, who was here recently, is editor of the Cosmopolitan.

On Monday evening the visitors were entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Bechdolt.

STREET PAVING DESIRABLE

While City Engineer H. D. Severance is preparing plans and specifications for the concreting of two blocks of Dolores street and one block on Seventh avenue, agitation is already going the rounds for concreting Lincoln street from Ocean avenue to Seventh avenue.

Several property-owners on Lincoln street believe that the thoroughfare will eventually become a part of the business section, and that a concrete roadway is therefore necessary.

It is likely that the matter will come before the city trustees by petition very shortly.

WE HOPE SO

Edward G. Kuster may induce the Players Guild to do "Liliom" at the Golden Bough. This most interesting play is going big in San Francisco.

SESQUICENTENNIAL HISTORY SKETCHES

The one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence will be observed by the Sesquicentennial International Exposition, which opens at Philadelphia, June 1, 1926.

THOMAS JEFFERSON, VIRGINIA

A red haired, healthy looking youth, with hazel-gray eyes, prominent cheekbones, and a heavy chin, was known as "inquisitive" Thomas Jefferson, because of his delight in asking questions and persisting until they were answered.

It was the same tenacity of purpose and love of controversy that characterized him as a child that aided the thirty-two-year-old Jefferson in writing the Declaration of Independence, the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the signing of which will be commemorated by the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia on June 1.

He was born in Virginia on April 13, 1743, the third child of the family. When he came of age in 1764, he was the wealthiest, one of the best educated, and certainly the most conspicuous young man in Albemarle County.

He recognized and assumed the responsibilities of his position and within a few months was elected to two of his father's offices—justice of the peace and vestryman of the parish. He writes of himself that the passions of his soul were music, mathematics, and architecture.

Jefferson was proficient in natural sciences and was versed in anatomy, civil engineering, physics, mechanics, meteorology, astronomy, architecture, and botany. Such was his knowledge of various subjects, that he was considered a monument of learning.

According to his biographer, William Eleroy Curtis in "The True Thomas Jefferson," the author of the Declaration of Independence was the father of fast mails, having arranged while Secretary of State to have mails transported at the rate of one hundred miles a day, then considered an extremely rapid pace; author of the coinage system, the Mint in Philadelphia having been established at his recommendation; and the ablest politician that this country had produced.

His public life covered a period of sixty-one years. He was actually in office thirty-nine years. Among other offices which he held, he was elected to Congress in 1781 and again in 1783. In 1784 he was sent as minister to France. He was inaugurated Vice-President in 1796, and was elected President in 1800 and served until March 4, 1809.

DO NOT FAIL TO REGISTER

It is necessary that all citizens register. It does not matter that you were registered last year—it must be done in 1926.

Another campaign year is upon us. We must choose officials to conduct our local affairs. We are to select State and National representatives who are to manage our political affairs. Citizenship imposes a responsibility in community, County, State and National matters.

The concerted campaign in the United States in 1924 to "register and vote" accomplished much to counteract the "poor citizenship of the good citizen," but we are facing the same situation today and must meet it.

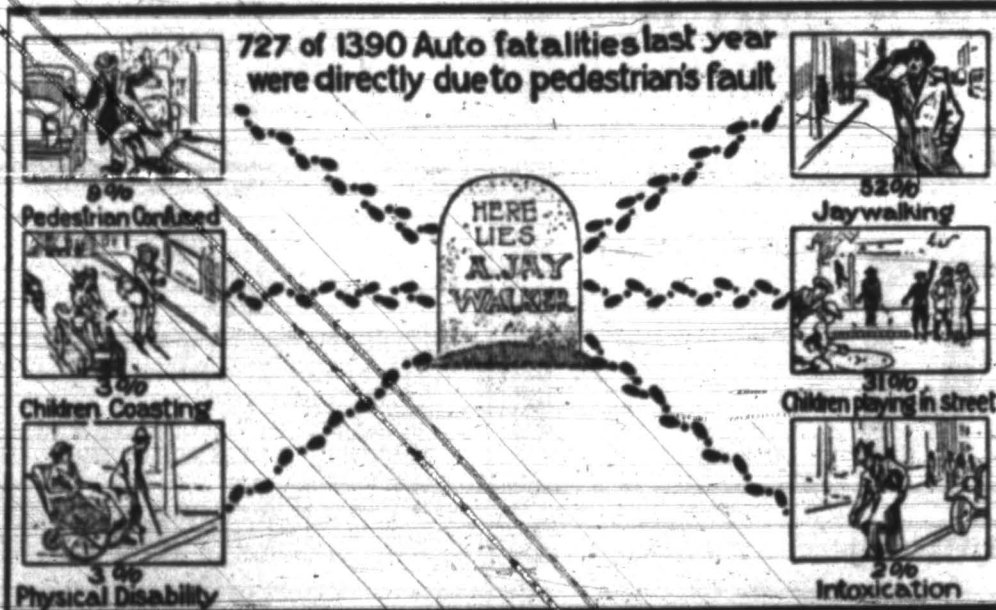

Citizenship means more than going to the polls on election day and voting. You must get the ablest men possible to offer for the offices and get behind them. You must see that every possible vote is registered, and, on election day, that it votes. Register and vote and work to get others to do so. And—do it today.

THE SERVICE OF THE FOURTH ESTATE

To the fact that the newspapers of this country now are cordially enlisted in the war against fire waste, there is abundant testimony of the directest kind. Yet indirect proof of a changed attitude is not wanting. This can be found, for instance, in the growing frequency with which the newspapers, in reporting an outbreak, have been at pains to nose out the cause. Over the past five years, especially, this tendency to discover and make known in every case the origin of the flames, has been apparent to those who are engaged in opening up the road towards fire-safety. It has become a helpful beam of light thrown upon a way illuminated by far too few rays of hope.

Repeated revelation of cause and effect cannot fail in time to stamp upon the public mind the truth, that every blaze has its source, that this source is usually avoidable; and that fire is a stroke of unlucky fate, mysterious and inescapable, almost never.

Jay Walker to Blame for Half of the Deaths by Auto

MANY a motorist whose car has figured in a fatal accident will be able to present a clear sheet to Saint Peter when his time comes, when one considers all the contributing factors outside of the driver's own fault. A total of 1,390 auto fatalities on record with the Stewart-Warner Safety Council for the prevention of automobile accidents, covering a period of seven months, shows that in 727 cases the fault was clearly the pedestrian's and cannot be put down to the driver, the weather or unavoidable circumstances.

The careless pedestrian's footsteps lead him to the grave by six distinct routes, says the Safety Council, and the most travel-worn of these is jaywalking. Sixty-two per cent of the 727 auto fatalities just referred to were due to straggling across busy streets without using the intersections. Children's playing in the streets was responsible for 31 per cent and coasting for another 3 per cent. Confusion on the part of the pedestrian, not hearing whistles and turning back in his tracks, brought about 9 per cent of these 727 deaths, while physical disability and intoxication rate 3 and 2 per cent respectively.

Fine Comedy for Golden Bough

"Dulcy," the amusing comedy and Broadway success dealing with the interference of a charming, rattle-brained young woman, a "delightful dumb-bell," in the affairs of her friends, relatives and husband, will be produced at the Theatre of the Golden Bough next Friday and Saturday evenings, with Ruth Kuster in the title role.

Built around the central character, the story of "Dulcy" involves ten other people who, strange to say in this day of "assembled" motor cars, house furnishings and plays, are new and refreshing types to the state. The characterizations achieved by the local players of these roles are said by those in the know to be clever in the extreme. Dulcy herself, a light-weight and dim-wit, is so maddening at times that strong men tear their hair and weep, and yet—and yet she is altogether charming and loveable, adorable in her penitent tears, a pathetic child.

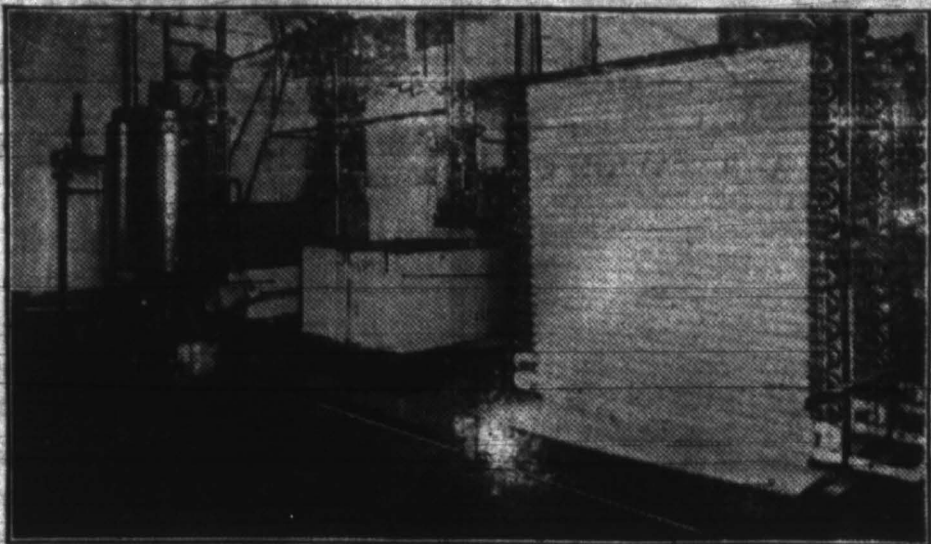

The worried and harassed young husband will be played by C. S. Stinson; brother "Bill," amused and cynical and likeable, by Elliott Durham; Mr. Forbes, representative of Big Business, fatigued and irritable and sarcastic, by Hobart Glassell; the flirtatious Mrs. Forbes by Gladys Vander Roest; the "suspended sentence" butler, Henry, by Thomas Bickle. The charming ingenue role of Angela Forbes will be taken by Helen Judson; Dr. George Kocher will play Blair Patterson, New York corporation lawyer; W. K. Bassett will play the "advertising engineer," Tom Sterret, ill-mannered but enthusiastic; T. Onenoff has the pathetic but absurd role of Schuyler Van Dyck; while the principal-comedy role, that of the "scenarist" Vincent Leach, will be portrayed by Major Eric Wilkinson.

The production is being staged and directed by Edward Kuster, whose "Sabine Women" and "Merton of the Movies" last summer revealed a capacity for handling light comedy, satire and burlesque that surprised those who had been identifying him with such picturesque and fantastic drama as "The Nursery Maid of Heaven" and "The Immortal Hour." In "Dulcy" we may look for a deft and sure touch and a bringing out of all the delicious situations of the play.

Booth Tarkington wrote of "Dulcy" as follows: "Their (the audience's) growing animation as the comedy began to glitter before them was enlivening to see. Here was a play that dealt in 'character'; it outlined and colored, with the gayest satiric touch, sketches of actual beings happily recognizable as human, not theatric; as this priceless contrivance went on it developed itself into the rarest thing, a merriment for the mind. But what was even more astonishing, it brought upon the stage 'types' not taken from other plays or from novels; it enriched the stage with unused people."

"The greater part of that great public that likes and praises 'Dulcy' has no idea how really good the comedy is, nor why it is so good. It is one of those pieces inevitably spoken of by the gracious and pretentious as 'little' plays. There is no 'sex' in it, no 'surge of passion', no approach of death, no 'conflict of big primal forces'; there is nothing in it imitated from the Russian, nor even from the Russian imitation for the French; moreover there is no author-person gesturing in any phrase of it; never does ink splatter in a word spoken by one of its people. It is just a brilliantly expressed gay thought about some kinds of human foolishness, and since a gay thought about some kinds of human foolishness can be just as true as

Chief Inspector Sounds Keynote to Purifying Nation's Milk Supply

Interior of a Milk Pasteurizing Plant.

At the 14th annual convention of the International Association of Dairy and Milk Inspectors held at Indianapolis, recently, leading authorities of the United States and Canada submitted interesting and informative papers relative to the purification of the nation's milk supply.

In the closing session of the series of meetings, Dr. Roy F. Leslie, Chief Meat and Dairy Inspector of Cleveland, Ohio, emphasized the great importance of co-operative measures by the producer in the production of clean milk.

"With co-operation on the part of the milk producers," said Dr. Leslie, "much can be done along this line that would otherwise be impossible." He then told of how the public was kept informed of steps taken to control the milk supply with a view to safeguarding the health of all who use milk and dairy products.

"In Cleveland," said Dr. Leslie, "more than 70% of the milk is sold at one or another of a system of chain stores where the customer is given an allowance of 2 cents on the purchase of each quart of milk."

The 2 cents allowed covers the cost of delivery in the home and represents a saving of about 12% to the consumer.

a gloomy thought about the same thing, and since the gay thought is worth ten times as much as the gloomy one, and is incredibly more difficult to express, nothing could have been more certain from the outset than that 'Dulcy' would be called a 'clever little play' or a 'parking little play,' but almost always 'little.'

"It takes so many years to learn how to write a little play—truthful, merry and compact—as clean of common market-stall viscera as it is of ancient ink smears—and so much patient destructiveness on the part of a few helpful critics has been needed to make intelligent comedies possible for managers to produce, that the diminutiveness of the few plays of this type brings to mind the diminutiveness of fine jewelry. For there never was a pearl as big as a hen's egg. Even a bad egg is bigger than the biggest pearl."

As Dulcy would probably say, "It takes all kinds of people to make an audience," but it is not far from certain that the Golden Bough is opening its spring and summer season with a most charming play of almost universal appeal. If you haven't known a Dulcy you have gone through the world deaf and blind. Dulcy is everywhere—we have all met her somewhere, even if we have not in our own homes anybody quite so charming—and irritating.

The advance sale of seat is going on at the Palace Drug Store, and mail-orders are already coming in from San Jose, Berkeley and even Santa Barbara.

Several members of "The Collegians," "Brick" Morse's collection of entertainers, will be quartered in Carmel homes tonight. A dance will probably follow the show.

Milk in Cleveland must be sold within 36 hours of pasteurizing.

Mr. J. V. Quigley, dairy adviser, Kansas City Consumers' League, Kansas City, Mo., followed with an account of the work of purifying the milk supply of that city.

He stated that milk produced in dairies where they follow all sanitary regulations such as clean stables, clipped udders and flanks of milk cows, thorough grooming and brushing of the animal before milking, and periodical tests for bacteria, brought to producers in the league 2 cents to 3 cents more per quart of milk than is received by those who were not members of the Kansas City Consumers' League.

Throughout the series of meetings, stress was laid upon the rapid strides being made towards a thorough and comprehensive inspection program of the milk supply of cities throughout the United States and Canada.

It is certain that the results of this work are reflected to a great extent in the increased consumption of milk by the people of the United States, and this increased consumption is sure to be reflected in monetary advantages for both the producer and the distributor. High quality will increase milk consumption and high consumption of milk will keep the milk market steady.

ART NOTES

ARTIST OF THE REVOLUTION

More than a century ago, John Trumbull, a soldier of the Revolutionary War, was employed by Congress to paint four large pictures to be placed in the rotunda of the Capitol. The subjects of these paintings are, "The Declaration of Independence," "The Resignation of Washington," "The Surrender of Burgoyne," and "The Surrender of Cornwallis."

The pictures were completed and placed in position in 1824. During the intervening 102 years they probably have been viewed by more people than any other paintings in the United States. Through engravings they have been made familiar to millions of people throughout the land.

During the Revolutionary War the artist served as an aide to Washington. In 1780 he went to France and then to London, where he studied under Benjamin West. When news reached London of the execution of Major Andre as a spy, Trumbull was arrested by the British as a spy. When haled before the authorities he said: "I am an American; my name is Trumbull; I am the son of him who you call the rebel governor of Connecticut; I have served in the rebel army; I have had the honor of being an aide-de-camp to him who you call the rebel George Washington. I am entirely in your power; treat me as you please, always remembering that as I may be treated, so will your friends in America be treated by mine." After eight months' imprisonment he was released upon condition that he leave the country. Some years later he returned to England as secretary to John Jay, and was engaged in diplomatic life for seven years. The last twenty-seven years of his life were spent in New York, where he became president of the Academy of Fine Arts.

Upon the death of his wife, Trumbull realized that he was a lonely old man. He exchanged all of his paintings to Yale College for a life pension of $1000 a year. Beneath the gallery in which the pictures were placed repose the remains of Trumbull and his beloved wife. A portion of the inscription on his tomb reads: "To his country he gave his pencil and his sword."

ARTISTIC ANNEXATION OF THE SOUTH

The current exhibition of contemporary American art which the Grand Central Galleries of New York have staged in the handsome new art gallery at Houston, Tex., is the latest move of this enterprising organization in its artistic annexation of the south. Memphis and Nashville are the two Tennessee centers already on the Grand Central art circuit of the southland, as well as Atlanta, Ga.; and there is an exhibition planned for Norfolk, Va., in the near future. At each point the phenomenal success of this novel undertaking has fully justified the belief of Walter L. Clark and his associates in the possibility of establishing new centers for art distribution throughout the United States.

These several exhibitions are the first large showings of contemporary art to be held in the south, and being under the patronage of the highest civic and social authorities, they have been able to reach a much greater body of possible art patrons than otherwise possible.

CULTURE AS A MEDIUM OF PLEASURE

Pleading for the enthusiasms of the mind as against the superficial enthusiasms of the eye and urging a new program of life based on the rhythm of poetry, the rhythm of music and the rhythm of drawing and painting, Dudley Crafts Watson, noted expositor of art and extension lecturer of the Art Institute at Chicago, closed his series of lectures at Pomona college recently.

In the place of the movie, cafe and unproductive card table he suggests development of a world of culture in which the arts would become dominant and the public mind could see beauty and know and talk about it intelligently. He believes that the working hours of the future will be curtailed and that man should accept culture as the accepted medium of pleasure.

A brilliant water-color of the gateway to the City of Peking, painted by William C. Watts, the well-known Carmel Highlands artist, hangs in the office of Hutton Fields on Ocean avenue. It is attracting much attention.

The Curtain Shop

The large and growing demand for cretonnes for curtains and for other uses has made it necessary for Miss Brouhard to increase her stock of samples now on display at 433 Alvarado street, Monterey.—Adv.

Mrs. Mabel G. Young is in San Francisco for a few days, taking advantage of the concerts and opera now on.

Next Wednesday, March 3, Mother White will be 95 years old. Many loving friends will call at her home to tender felicitations.

Miss Peggy Palmer of San Jose has as her house guests here, Fred Trotter and George Baker, Stanford Polo players, who have been participating in the Del Monte tournament.

Little Alicia Flanders recently came into possession of $4000 from the estate of Albert Sidney Johnson of Illinois. Paul Flanders, her daddy, has been appointed guardian of her person and estate.

A food sale for the benefit of St. Anne's Guild will be held on next Saturday, March 6, from eleven to four at the store formerly occupied by the Cinderella Shop on Ocean avenue, next to J. W. Hand's office.

Miss Mary Young, G. A. Shoemaker, and Lee Smith, of the Pine Cone Press staff, spent the last week end out of town. Miss Young went to Oakland, the Shoemakers to Santa Cruz and San Jose, and Mr. Smith to San Francisco.

Mrs. Mabel G. Young had as week end guests her nephew, Mr. Ralph Lachmund and wife of San Francisco, and Dr. Leschke, director of the municipal chorus. Mrs. Lachmund is the possessor of a beautiful voice and sang the soprano solos of the Creation and Messiah, recently given in San Francisco.

"TO THE PLAYGROUND" WILL BE PRODUCED

In the late spring there will be given at the Golden Bough the first presentation of "To the Playground." It was written by Irving Brant, who is now here. Brant was for a long time an editorial writer on the St. Louis Post-Despatch. This will not be his first play to be produced.

California's Development Marked In Opening Sacramento S. P. Station

View of the new Southern Pacific station at Sacramento and some of the train platforms. Inset: Miss Bernadine Ahern, daughter of T. Ahern, assistant general manager for the railroad, a leader in dedication ceremonies.

Sacramento.—Formal opening and dedication of the new Southern Pacific passenger terminal station, erected at a total cost of $2,317,077, in this city Saturday, February 27, marks the most important milestone yet reached in the industrial development of central California and of the great Sacramento valley, which yields annually more than $350,000,000 in products.

The station terminal proper is of concrete and steel frame construction, covered with face brick and architectural terra cotta. It is 370 feet long and 100 feet wide, with three stories and a basement.

The old depot now being replaced, was completed in 1879. It was then "the finest building of its kind west of Omaha." At that time, Sacramento had a population of 21,420. Today the city has an estimated population of 102,300.

Sacramento has recently completed a $3,000,000 filtration plant, insuring clear, pure water, and has under construction a $750,000 municipal auditorium, as well as a $550,000 junior college. It has built new river docks and warehouses at a cost of $225,000 and last year did a million dollars worth of street improvements. A $3,000,000 cannery, occupying two full blocks was completed last year and a 15-story Elks building is now being finished. The $2,000,000 Hotel Senator and the $1,000,000 Senator Theater, are other new structures. However, it was the remarkable development and future potentialities of the twenty counties forming the Sacramento trade area which led to the erection of what might be rightly termed the "Sacramento Valley Station" of the Southern Pacific company.

With the development of the Pacific Coast the Southern Pacific company has built up at Sacramento the largest railroad equipment building shops in the west.

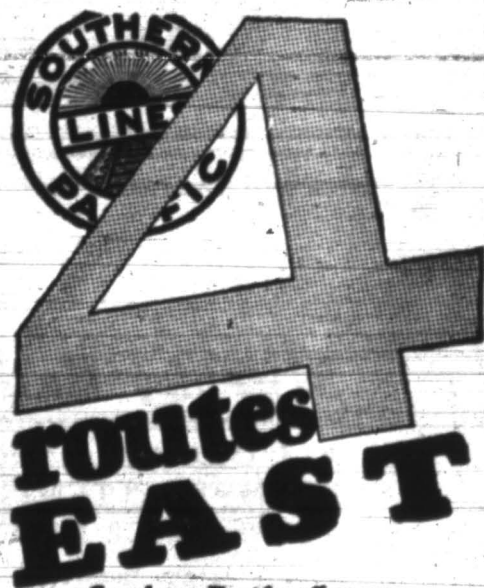

CARMEL BOYS' CLUB

The Carmel Boys' Club has led an uneventful life lately. No more birthdays, or parties at present. They would like to borrow a stereoscope, as they have about a hundred pictures, but no stereoscope that works. THE ESCAPE OF THE CANDY ANIMALS

Flavia Louise Flavin (age 10)
In "Wee Acorn" for February

A baker one day said to himself, "I think I will make a nice Taffy Kitten, a Cinnamon Bear and a Sugar Dog. Suiting his words to action, the baker made these animals and set them up in the window facing the street. As it was about eleven o'clock, he left the room and went to bed. Then the animals began to talk.

The Cinnamon Bear began by saying, "What shall we do?" "I know," said the Taffy Kitten, "if the Sugar Dog doesn't go to sleep—" she broke off and looked severely at the Sugar Dog who was dozing off. "Oh, I'm listening," said the Sugar Dog, opening one eye and then closing it. "All right," said the Cinnamon Bear, "Go on, Taffy, before the Sugar Dog goes to sleep again."

"Well," said Taffy, "we are going to be sold tomorrow." "If that's all," said the Sugar Dog, crossly, "I'm sorry you told me." "But you don't know what it means to be sold," said Taffy; and she added briskly, "I am going to escape, even if you aren't." "So am I," said the Cinnamon Bear. "But how will we do it?" asked the Sugar Dog, suddenly interested. "This will help us," said Taffy, pointing to a piece of string lying in the window. "How will we get out of doors?" asked the Sugar Dog. "We will simply break the window," said Taffy. "What will we break it with?" inquired the Cinnamon Bear. "You'll have to answer that for yourself," said Taffy.

"I'll break it open with a nail-file," said the Sugar Dog, and scoop it out with a spoon." At this, Taffy laughed, but the Sugar Dog paid no attention to her and slid down the window to get his things. When he came back the Cinnamon Bear said, "Now let's escape before day dawns."

Suddenly they heard a crash and the Taffy Kitten said, "I have broken the window, and now we can escape. Come on." Then they all slid silently down into the night.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS

Pursuant to resolution duly passed by the Board of Trustees of Sunset School District on February 17th, 1926, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that said Board of Trustees hereby invite sealed bids or proposals for the purchase of the old Sunset School building and two small outstanding temporary buildings situate on the grounds of said Sunset School, City of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Said bids must be delivered to the undersigned clerk of said board at or before eight o'clock p. m., Wednesday, the 10th day of March 1926, at which date and hour said bids will by said board be publicly opened, examined and declared in the new Sunset School building in said city.

To be considered by said board, all proposals must be accompanied by a duly certified check in ten per cent of the amount of the bid, which shall be forfeited to said school district in the event the successful bidder fails or refuses to carry out the terms of his proposal.

Said buildings are to be sold contingent upon the same being removed from said school grounds within 15 days from and after the date of the award of contract.

The whole amount of the proposal made by the successful bidder must be paid to said Board of Trustees prior to the removal of said buildings from said grounds and within ten days from and after said award of contract.

Said Board of Trustees reserves the right to reject any and all bids. By order of the Board of Trustees of Sunset School District.

Thirty-five oil and tempera pictures by M. DeNeale Morgan are on exhibition in the City of Paris gallery in San Francisco. The pictures will be on view another week.

Mrs. Clara Bachman, manager of the Carmel store of Goldstine's, has returned from a business trip to Los Angeles. While absent, Mrs. Leonie Manuel of the Monterey store took her place.

An interesting visitor in Carmel this week was Prof. E. H. S. Bailey. He was for forty years head of the chemistry department of the University of Kansas, and was for a long period Dean of Education of the same institution.

On Sunday afternoon, March 3, the members of the College Women's Club of Carmel will hold a reception for their friends at the Forest Hill School, which place has been made available for the occasion by Mrs. Minna Steel Harper and Miss Mabel Spicker.

Miss Margaret Gillette, a student of a Berkeley business college, spent the last week end with her family. Thomas and Andrew Gillett, who are attending Stanford University, also spent the holidays at home.

Mrs. John Weigold has recovered from a three weeks' illness.

Dr. Amelia Gates has returned from a seven weeks' stay in San Francisco.

Back to the land for "Bobby" Norton. He's selling real estate in Oakland now.

Mrs. L. E. Payne, who has been very ill for several weeks, is much better and will soon be out.

Miss Ellen Hickey of San Francisco is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Munter for two weeks.

The regular monthly meeting of St. Anne's Guild for March will be held Tuesday, March 2, at the Rectory.

E. K. Blood, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, is recovering rapidly now, and will be back in his store soon.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Farley and daughter, Henrietta, motored to Paso Robles, their former home, to visit friends over last week end.

March 23 at 12 m. sharp, is the dead line for the filing of nomination papers for City Trustee. Alfred K. Miller will file his papers this week.

Mrs. Margaret Grant and daughter, Lexie, and their two dogs and cat, have returned from a very interesting motor trip to Santa Barbara.

Are You a Good Citizen ?

(AN OPEN LETTER)

I WISH THIS would be read widely by business men and their customers, by city officials—elective and appointive, by taxpayers and renters, by breadwinners and those who have no need to labor, for the subject is one of interest to every and each Carmelite. I, among others, am in business here in Carmel. I am a taxpayer, a voter. I am building a home here. I advertise liberally in the home town paper, believe in and support local institutions, pay a business license, abide by the laws. I am not patting myself on the back when I burst into print and claim that I consider myself a fairly good sort of citizen.

And not the least item on the list of points making for this citizenship is the fact that when I need a shirt, a pot of paint, a spark plug or two, or a pound of butter, I don't hop in my car, slam the door, step on the starter, and "shoot over the hill."

I have nothing against Monterey or its merchants. The same applies to Del Monte and Pacific Grove. Monterey, just at present, is a larger town than Carmel. Bigger assortments of goods are necessarily carried by its merchants. But inasmuch as efficiency engineers have determined that it costs about six cents a mile to operate the cheapest of motor cars, I would point out to the thoughtless ones that the loss of time and a seventy-two cent cost for such shopping is poor economy and unfair treatment of Carmel merchants.

Considering it a civic duty, when I need an article, I try Carmel first. Otherwise I'd not consider myself a good citizen.

It so happens I sell motor cars, THE BUICK, THE OLDSMOBILE, at a fixed price. You may buy of me as cheaply as you can in San Francisco. My commission on the deal represents money which stays in Carmel. Am I asking too much when I bespeak your custom for Carmel stores? Are you a good citizen, in a broad sense, when you habitually trade out of town?

Yours for good citizenship and fine motor cars,

(Signed) PAUL J. DENNY.

TEXAS WOMAN PRAISES LIVER and BLOOD SYRUP

Cotton Picker Finds Relief From Using First Bottle Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup, so Writes Mrs. Elsie Jones, Redwater, Texas.

"I want to praise Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup to all women with rundown systems. It has done me so much good. I was poor and hardly felt like doing my housework, and since I took the first bottle, I could tell that it helped me. I can't praise it enough for what it has done for my mother-in-law. She couldn't stay on her feet over thirty minutes at a time. Now since she has taken several bottles of your Blood Syrup she is now able to pick over a hundred pounds of cotton every day and is looking fine. It want you to use my letter in any way to help suffering women and men."
